DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This intermediate-block, textured stucco and Spanish tile residence is 2 stories high and 3 bays wide.

Three fieldstone steps lead to the front entrance with a stucco-walled porch buttressed on the right side. The Spanish tile roof slopes further to the right section, which is slightly recessed and holds a round-headed entrance-way. The left side also holds a similar opening in mid-section.

Beneath the apex of the porch gable is a square with a vertically rectangular below it.

The flat walled 2nd story carries 2 rectangular windows with 1/1 lights and brick header sills. An identical detail to that below the porch roof apex sits above the right window.

High casement windows fill the 1-story right bay which is mounted by a sunroom. The ground level double casement windows each with 2 vertical rows of 5 lights are separated by mullions. Identically composed sidelights flank the windows, the grouping is mounted by a Spanish tile shed roof supported by brackets.

The sunroom roof slopes downward from the building wall. Double casement windows separated by mullions bring light into the interior. Flushboard siding faces the section above the windows. A rain leaders drops down the right side from the roof.
